THREE AWARDS. ONE SPIRIT. THE 2025 AWARD HONOREES.

Together with the Spirit of Community Award, this year's two new awards reflect the full arc of community leadership: from those who've laid the groundwork to those carrying it forward in bold and inspiring ways.

Spirit of Community Award Claudia Ramirez Cuellar

Claudia Ramirez Cuellar turned her own challenges as a new immigrant into nearly two decades of service in Arlington's schools and community. From Aspire Afterschool Learning to classrooms across Arlington, she is a steady presence: supporting teachers, guiding families, and sharing the knowledge she once had to find on her own so others don't have to navigate essential services alone.

Spirit of Leadership Award Nina Janopaul

Nina Janopaul has spent her life advancing housing justice and community well-being across Arlington and beyond. As former CEO of APAH (now True Ground Housing Partners), she led with the belief that housing is not charity, but justice. Today, she brings faith communities into action, building partnerships that turn moral conviction into lasting change.

Spirit on the Rise Award Kellen MacBeth

Kellen MacBeth has spent nearly two decades driving policy and grassroots change in Arlington. From housing equity to LGBTQ+ rights, he has founded initiatives, shaped local and state laws, and championed marginalized communities with tireless dedication. His leadership has helped move Arlington toward a more just and inclusive community in countless ways.
